

YOUTH INJURED FRIDAY WHEN CAR IS WRECKED

State police from the Gettysburg sub-station investigated three accidents within the last 24 hours in which drivers ran off the road and smashed their cars, but in only one of the accidents was the driver hurt.

Francis Howard Cost Jr., 20, Hagerstown and Gettysburg, suffered head injuries, possible internal injuries and a fracture of the left ankle when his car struck a bridge abutment 17 miles west of here on the Sunshine Trail at 3:50 o'clock Friday afternoon. A special student at Gettysburg College, Cost resides at the Hotel Gettysburg here during the school week.

State police said he was driving west, apparently enroute home for the weekend, when he passed another auto going west on Route 16. When Cost sought to return his car into its own lane, after passing the other vehicle, it skidded and left the road, smashing into the abutment. Cost's left foot was trapped in the car, but two passing motorists were able to extricate him so that he could be removed to the Waynesboro hospital in the Blue Ridge Summit ambulance, police said. Damage to his 1956 Buick, which was demolished, was estimated at $2,600.

Two One-Car Crashes

Neither of the drivers was hurt in two "one-car" accidents on county highways this morning.

State police said William G. Hollinger, 20, Clearview Rd., Hanover, was driving east on the Lincoln Highway five miles east of here at 2 o'clock this morning when he apparently fell asleep and his car left the road and smashed into a utility pole. Damage was estimated at $230 to the car and $50 to the pole.

Theodore Chandler Jr., Mechanicburg, also escaped injury in a similar crash four miles north of York Springs on the Harrisburg Rd. at 3 o'clock this morning. Police said he was headed north, fell asleep and his car left the road and smashed into a tree, demolishing the 1951 Studebaker valued at $300.

More Reports Of Hunters' Success

One of the finest racks reported taken this season went to Luther Schwartz, Gettysburg R. 1. He shot a 10-point buck that dressed 110 pounds Friday morning on his own farm in Mt. Joy Twp.

A father and son team nunting separately bagged deer this morning near Zora. Robert Kipp Sr., Fountaldale, Fairfield R. 1, shot a 9-point, 160 pounder, and his son, Robert Kipp Jr., downed an 8-point, 150-pound buck.

Edwin Stoner, Orrtanna, shot an eight-point buck Friday afternoon at the Arthur W. Roth property between Orrtanna and Mt. Carmel.

LIBRARY SETS LOAN RECORDS IN NOVEMBER

Mounting circulation figures and plans for the annual meeting of the Adams County Free Library Association on January 10 were reviewed by members of the library board of directors at their December meeting Friday evening at the main library on E. High St. President William C. Darrah presided at the meeting.

Reports submitted by Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, librarian, showed that loans at the main library in November jumped 40 per cent over the same month last year and set a new month's record in library history. The month saw a new high set for loans on a single day and loans totaled 5,255 for the month.

Total loans through the schools, branches and the main library came to 23,333 in November as compared with 21,878 the same month last year, Mrs. Wilson said.

Gouker Will Speak

Grover Gouker, Hanover, state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker for the annual meeting, it was announced by J. Albert Blackburn, chairman of the committee in charge of the program. Annual reports will be presented and board vacancies will be filled during a business session.

In addition to Gouker's talk, there will be a panel discussion of library service and problems in which Mr. Gouker, Mrs. Wilson, a representative of the county commissioners and John Y. Crow, chairman of Operation Library for the Jaycees, will take part.

A committee on refreshments for the meeting was named Friday. It includes Mrs. C. T. Ziegler, Miss Ann Faber and Mrs. Ira Henderson.

Keefe Reports Resolution

C. P. Keefe, a member of the library board, reported on a resolution adopted by the county school directors' convention Friday afternoon at Fairfield urging schoolmen to support the library and suggesting 25 cents per pupil as a standard for school donations to the library.

The board accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Q. W. Hershey as a member of the board of directors, effective January 1. Mrs. Ziegler was assigned to take her place on the board of directors.

The directors decided that Christmas vacation at the library will include December 24 through 26.

YOUTH INJURED

A Littlestown R. 2 youth was driver of an automobile in which he and four other soldiers were injured Friday when their car struck a coal trailer while returning to their base at Tobyhanna. Signal depot, near Scranton, the Associated Press reported. Pfc. Edward King, 20, suffered cuts of the face requiring four sutures. The accident occurred on Route 611 several miles west of Tobyhanna.

Experts Study Rocket Fizzle After Cape Canaveral Fiasco

By VERN HAUGLAND

CAPE CANAERL, Fla. (AP)—Military and scientific personnel planned today to conduct a series of conferences to find out what caused the failure of this country's giant anguared test rocket.

The missile, 72 feet long, barely managed to get off the ground yesterday before it exploded in a huge display of fire and smoke.

The men in charge of the spectacular launching attempt want to know just what happened to the tiny earth satellite in its nose, and why.

Prepare New Test

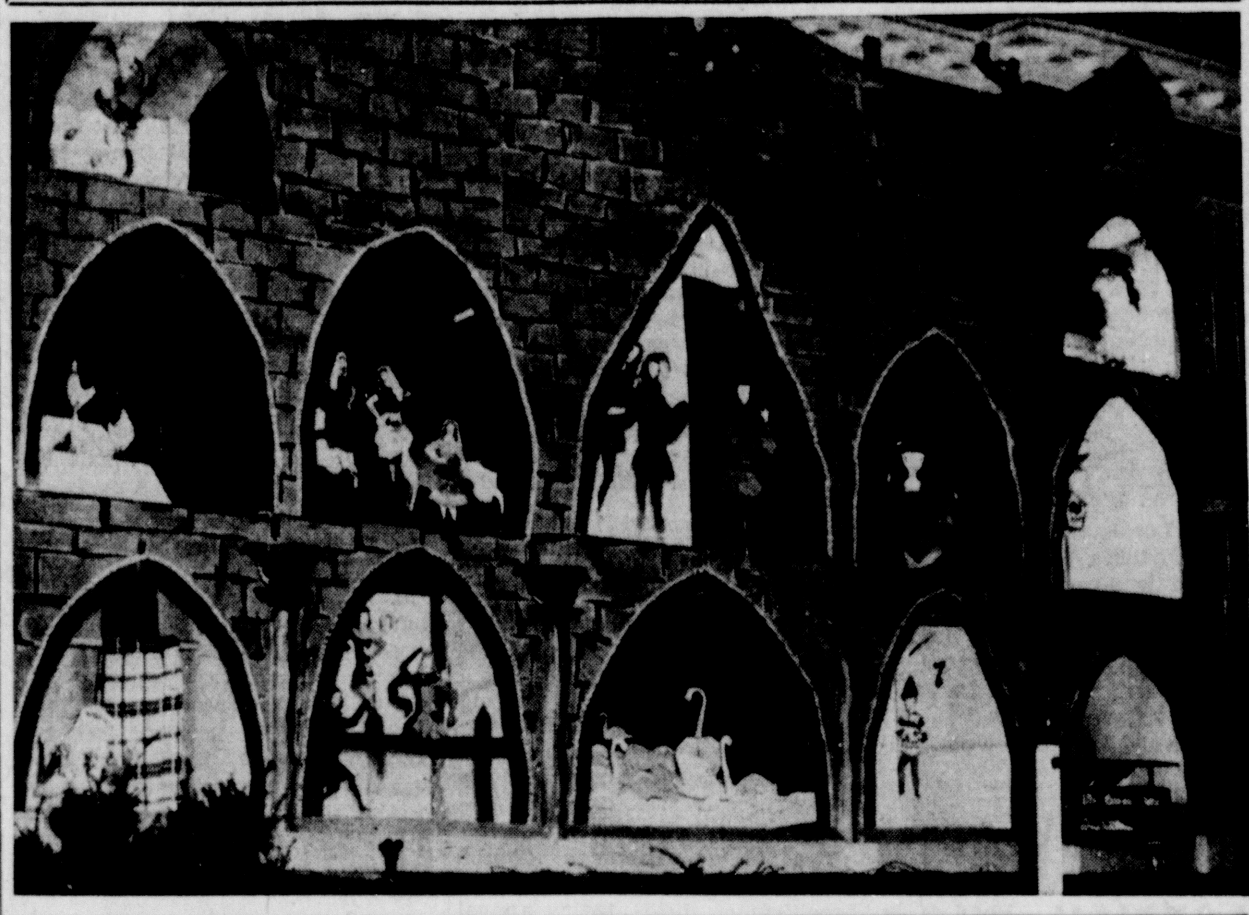

Steps also were under way to prepare for flight a new test satellite identical to the one that met misfortune on the launching pad here Friday, just before noon.

Already on hand, said anguared executive J. Paul Walsh, is another complete three-stage Martin rocket, a twin of the one that blew up on an attempted vertical takeoff yesterday.

It is in the Martin Co. hangar at the closely guarded Missile Test Center, one among many

Winning Phi Gam Decorations

FINED $90 ON GUN CHARGES

Albert W. Kuhn, 33, Gettysburg R. 5, was found guilty on two charges and fined $90 at a hearing before U. S. Commissioner J. Francis Yake this morning.

Kuhn was found guilty of having two unsealed firearms without written permission from the warden in his possession with ammunition, and operating a vehicle off a battlefield avenue. Kuhn was found not guilty on a charge of spotting deer with intentions to kill.

Kuhn testified he was going hunting Monday at Mt. Newman and was "just looking" when Park Warden Emless Nett apprehended him at 2:20 o'clock. Kuhn said he owned both the 12-gauge shotgun and the high-powered rifle and ammunition found by the warden in the car.

Kuhn also said that he had been hunting for 11 years and never was prosecuted by a game warden.

Nett found Kuhn about ten feet off W. Confederate Ave. pointing his lights at deer in a wheatfield.

Kuhn paid $15 on the fine and costs today, and was placed on probation for 30 days during which time he is to complete payment.

School Bus Hits Schoolman's Auto

Damage was estimated at $425 when the car of H. Edgar Riegle, College Ave., Gettysburg superintendent of schools, was struck by a St. Francis Xavier Catholic school bus Thursday afternoon at about 4:45 o'clock five miles east of here at the intersection of the Lincoln Highway and the road leading from that highway to Hunterstown.

Riegle was reported as returning from York where he and a son, Daniel, had gone Thursday afternoon concerning possible entry of the son into the Penn State Center there. The bus was said to have entered the Lincoln Highway as Riegle's car was passing and struck the car on the side, just back of the front seat, damaging the entire rear front seat, damaging the entire rear of the side of the car. The vehicle was towed to Warren Chevrolet Garage. The bus was reported undamaged, and no one was injured.

TWO DECLINE J. P. OFFICES

Stanley R. Sell, Littlestown R. D., will not pick up his commission as justice of the peace of Union Twp., he has notified the county prothonotary's office.

The prothonotary sent notices of election to all of the 17 justices of the peace elected last month and asked them to return certificates by Friday.

Sell and one other elected justice notified they would not lift their commissions. The other one forgot to sign his name to the form when he returned it stating he would not accept.

PHI GAMS WIN ANNUAL XMAS COMPETITION

One of the most ambitious collection of Christmas decorations ever constructed in the borough, "The Twelve Days of Christmas" at the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house was announced today as the first place winner in the annual Christmas decorations contest held by the fraternities at Gettysburg College.

Second place was awarded "Noel Around the World" at the Phi Kappa Psi house and third honors went to "O Come All Ye Faithful," at the Alpha Tau Omega house.

Judging of the displays took place Friday night with the judges including Burgess William G. Weaver, Walter B. Lane, Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh and three members of the faculty of the college, Dr. Basil Crapster, Charles E. Platt and Patrick W. Barclay.

Seen By Hundreds

Michael Minet of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity was general chairman in charge of the arrangements for the judges.

Hundreds of Gettysburgians and Adams Countyans also did their own private judging by touring the campus by car during the evening. Judging by the jam of cars at the Phi Gamma Delta theme, the visitors were agreed with the judges as to the winner of the contest.

The Phi Gamma Delta display was an outstanding display of artistic and engineering ingenuity. A two-story high, six-foot wide front was constructed on the fraternity house. Twelve "windows" were made in the false front. In each of the windows, life size, were representations of the "two turtle doves," "six young maids" and the remainder of the gifts presented in the old English Christmas song of the "Twelve Days of Christmas." Bottiger Infant Is Found Dead

C. Ruth Bottiger, four-months-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. Lawrence Bottiger, Hazleton, formerly of Gettysburg, was found dead Friday morning by her parents.

Rev. and Mr. Bottiger had planned to visit friends here Wednesday but were halted by the snow storm. Instead they rose early Friday morning, planning to make the trip then. When Mrs. Bottiger went to the infant's crib she found that the child had died during the night. The coroner there said death was caused by asphyxiation, apparently from something in the throat.

The parents and another daughter survive.

SLEDDING VICTIM

Mrs. Daniel Myers, 37, Fairfield R. 1, was treated at the Warner Hospital for a fracture of her right shoulder received when she fell from a sled while sledding Friday.

President Hopes For Better Weather

President and Mrs. Eisenhower remained at their farm home here today, hoping for improvement in the rainy weather that kept the President indoors all day Friday. They will remain at the farm at least until Sunday afternoon and possibly may stay on until Monday or Tuesday.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was at the farm this morning and was to hold a late morning press conference upon his return.

The President received word from the Pentagon Friday afternoon at his farm here of the failure at Cape Canaveral of the attempted Vanguard launching. At a 4 o'clock press conference in the Hotel Gettysburg press room Friday afternoon, Hagerty said the President was "disappointed" in the outcome of the test.

Funeral services for Mrs. Edna Rebecca Zinn, 71, wife of Roy E. Zinn, 41 Hanover St., who died Friday afternoon at the Warner Hospital, will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Peters Funeral Home, Carlisle St., with the Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser officiating. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery and friends may call Sunday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at the funeral home.

A noted singer she sang for the troops here at Camp Colt in 1917, as a soloist and in duets with her husband, at entertainments provided by the community for the Tank Corps men under command of then Major Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Through the years from 1917 to 1941 she sang at many programs and activities for various local clubs and organizations, and at various church services and weddings. She had sung in every church in Gettysburg.

She was a life-long member of St. James Lutheran Church and a charter member of the Woman's Club of Gettysburg and of the local unit of the Daughters of American Colonists. She was an active member also of the Daughters of the American Revolution and of the Adams County Council of Republican Women among other affiliations.

In addition to her husband, whom she wed June 21, 1905, a year after her graduation from Gettysburg High School, she is survived by four children, Mrs. F. C. Mumma, New Cumberland; Merville E. Zinn, Chambersburg; Mrs. James Schwenk, Gettysburg, and Mrs. Robert Hicks, New Cumberland; by ten grandchildren, and by a sister, Mrs. E. J. Pfeffer, Gettysburg, and a brother, Maurice A. EARL HARTZELL IS ELECTED TO COUNTY BOARD

Earl B. Hartzell, Fairfield, was elected as a new member of the Adams County Board of School Directors and Lloyd E. Crouse, Littlestown, was returned for another term by the county school directors' association at the afternoon session of its 67th annual convention in the Fairfield Joint High School Friday.

Luther M. Lady, Biglerville, now president of the county board, had declined nomination for another term and will retire from the county board in July. J. Faber Wildasin, Abbottstown, secretary to the county board, congratulated Mr. Lady on the convention floor on his record of service and the convention rose to applaud his remarks.

A two-page report from the resolutions committee was adopted without discussion or debate but later President Lady, who presided at the afternoon meeting, urged the directors to take seriously the final resolution on a list of 11 which recommends that school boards and all joint systems study "the educational, administrative and financial advantages of union or merged school districts." He added: "We ought to think in terms of moving forward into merged or union school districts."

Urges Library Support

Other resolutions urged the directors to continue "moral and financial" support of the Adams County Free Library and suggested that each district or jointure donate to the library at the rate of 25 cents for each pupil in its district; recommended that local boards join the state directors' association; urged the state police to enforce the school bus stop law strictly and to continue traffic and safety instruction in the schools and asked directors to be "ever mindful" that character building is an important educational objective.

Other resolutions commended directors in the county for the expansion of the special education program; urged each administrative unit to establish a curriculum study committee and urged school boards to keep tax duplicates up to date. A final resolution extended sympathy to the family of Raymond S. Gable, a New Oxford school director for 26 years, who died recently.

MRS. BOWERS DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Ida B. Bowers, 75, wife of Birnie B. Bowers, died suddenly Friday evening at 9 o'clock at her home in Mt. Joy Twp., Littlestown R. 2. Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, said death was due to a heart attack.

A daughter of the late Eli and Emily Keyser Pitzer, she was a member of the Grace Lutheran Church, Two Taverns, where she was a teacher of the Ladies' Bible Class of the Sunday School. She was also a member of the Ladies' Aid Society and for many years superintendent of the Home Department of the Sunday School.

She is survived by her husband and one son, Glenn C. Bowers, Littlestown R. 2; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Regrets Expressed

Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev told newsmen in Moscow "I am sure it (the American satellite) will be launched sooner or later."

At the United Nations, several diplomats expressed regret at the U.S. satellite failure. One of these was Russian Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev.

In Britain, some newspapers hooted at the American failure. Others approached it solemnly. The Italian Communist newspaper L'Unita proclaimed the launching mistake "a very great defeat for the American technique and in-

CHURCH LEADER DECRIES BOMB FOR BOMB AIDS

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP RELIGION WRITER

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The new president of the National Council of Churches says a program of massive reconciliation is needed in a world in which "the international watchword of the last few years has been massive retaliation."

The Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, a St. Louis Baptist, asserted in his inaugural address yesterday that the world's approach in recent years has been "massive retaliation. . . a feverish philosophy of bomb for bomb, rocket for rocket, Sputnik for Sputnik."

"The Gospel of Jesus Christ knows nothing of retaliation," he said, and the church's task, "if we would be faithful to the express command of our Lord, must be one of massive reconciliation."

"Christian emphasis" "For the Christian church the emphasis must begin where it has always begun, with the reconciliation of the soul of man to God."

But Dr. Dahlberg said the program must be one of deeds, not just talk.

"It is not half so important that we send Sputniks circling around the globe as that we should send more loaves of bread around the world," he asserted.

Dr. Dahlberg is the first Baptist to head the Council of Churches, an interdenominational organization embracing most of the nation's major Protestant and orthodox groups.

Couple Observes
50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Saum, Orrtanna R. D., observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary Thanksgiving Day by being served a surprise Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mrs. Saum's great-nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bowman, Chambersburg R. D.

They were married Thanksgiving Day, November 28, 1907, at Marion, Franklin County, by the Rev. Fisher. Mrs. Saum was the former Miss Lillie Holsinger, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Holsinger, of Franklin County. Mr. Saum was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Saum, residents of Orrtanna. Mr. Saum has been a farmer all his life. Both he and Mrs. Saum are enjoying good health.

Those from this county attending the dinner were Howard Saum, Misses Minerva Lulu and Bertha Saum, all of Orrtanna R. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Sharrah, Mrs. Margaret Klunk and son, Joe, and Mrs. Blanche McMillan, all of Hanover.

Open house was held in the afternoon for relatives and friends. The couple received many gifts.

UNCOVER BIG SWINDLE PLAN

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Dist. Atty. Victory H. Blanc says a Havertown, Pa. man has conducted a scheme in which hundreds of Philadelphia may have lost up to a million dollars.

Blanc identified him as Albert J. Gershman, 33, operator of an army-navy surplus store here. A warrant for his arrest has been issued, but he has not been located.

The scheme, Blanc said, operated thus: Gershman would ask someone for funds to invest in buying surplus goods which then would be sold for huge profits. In one instance, he gave a man who loaned him $2,000 a check predating to Dec. 18 for $4,000.

But, said Blanc, one man from out of state has complained he has lost $200,000. A Main Line businessman also contends Gershman owes him $50,000.

Blanc said the investigation was started by an anonymous complaint.

Surviving, in addition to the parents are: a sister, Linda Louise Rinehart, and a brother, Larry Lee Rinehart, both at home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hoffman, Dover R. 4; paternal grandparents, Maurice L. Rinehart, Thomasville R. 1, and Mrs. Kathryn Rinehart, York R. 9; paternal grandfather, Harvey Swartz, York.

Rev. George A. Clark, pastor of Lutheran congregation of Holzschwamm Union Church, will officiate at graveside services Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Christ Lutheran Cemetery, Jackson Twp. Arrangements are in charge of Emig Funeral Home, East Berlin.

Mrs. Thurman W. Myers

Mrs. Hilda P. Myers, 50, wife of Thurman W. Myers, Hampstead, Md., died Thursday night at University Hospital, Baltimore, where she had been a patient for a week. Death was reported as caused by leukemia.

She was a daughter of the late George and Fannie Heltbride Stoner and was a member of Baist Reformed Church, near Westminster. She had been employed by Black and Decker Co. in Hampstead for the past seven years. Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. William Ruby, and a son, Melvin Myers, Hampstead; five grandchildren, and seven sisters and brothers, Mrs. Reba Eckard and Mrs. Larue Zepp, Westminster; Mrs. Ella Bohlman, Baltimore; Stanley, George and Ross Stoner, Westminster, and Paul Stoner, Littlestown. The Rev. Miles Reifsnider, her pastor, will officiate at services Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Edward C. Tipton Funeral Home, Hampstead. Burial will be in Hampstead Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Leaps Clear As Car Is Smashed By Train

SODA SPRINGS, Idaho (AP)—A 27-year-old mother of four jumped from her car yesterday at a railroad crossing in this southern Idaho town just before a freight train ground the vehicle into scrap.

Mrs. Eldon Perkins of Soda Springs saw the freight approaching an intersection near the town. She slammed on the brakes, but they didn't hold on the icy street. The auto slid onto the tracks and Mrs. Perkins jumped.

The train demolished the car and carried it nearly 200 feet down the track.

Says Army's Ready On Satellite Try

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, said yesterday the Army's Jupiter project is "ready to go" but would not guess how soon the Army could launch a satellite if given the go-ahead.

As for the Navy's ill-fated test run of the Vanguard yesterday, Taylor said this nation should not necessarily suffer further loss of prestige.

Taylor said he thought "we can assume" that the Russians had similar troubles in launching Sputnik I.

REFER REPORT BACK

The action in divorce of Betty Mae (Hankey) Spangler, New Oxford R. 1, against Charles Leroy Spangler, Midway, was returned to the master this morning by the Adams County court for additional hearing after proper notice to the defendant of the time and place thereof. The master's report had been submitted showing the return receipt of the notice by registered mail to Spangler had not been signed by Spangler, but apparently by an official at the U. S. Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., where, according to the complainant, Spangler is incarcerated. The court held that such a receipt could not be accepted and that Spangler will have to sign for himself a receipt showing that he received the notice.

Engagement

Tipton-Luckenbaugh

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Luckenbaugh, McSherrystown, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary E. Luckenbaugh, E. Middle St., to John C. Tipton, son of Mrs. Lucille Griffith, Collett, Va. Mr. Tipton resides with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Sumbury, 324 W. Middle St.

Miss Luckenbaugh graduated from Gettysburg High School last June and is now employed as an operator by the United Telephone Co. Her fiancé attended Delone Catholic High School, McSherrystown, and is employed by the Prosperity Cleaners.

No date has been set for the wedding.

ASSEMBLY GETS ALGERIAN FUSS FOR SOLUTION

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Efforts to settle the Algerian revolt were tossed to the U.N. General Assembly today in a deadlock.

The Assembly's Political Committee failed last night to agree on any plan for solving the three-year-old rebellion against France. Few diplomats believed the Assembly would find agreement.

Reject Resolution

The committee rejected a watered-down resolution proposing settlement efforts by private talks. The vote was 37-37 with six abstentions—thus failing to get a required majority.

The proposal was expected to come up in altered form in the Assembly some time next week. A two-thirds vote is needed there.

The United States and other Western powers had supported the resolution. The French, who deny U.N. jurisdiction over what they claim is an internal matter, did not vote. French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said he was extremely satisfied with the result.

Adopt Amendments

In its original form the resolution sponsored by 17 Asian-African nations had demanded U.N. recognition of the right of Algerians to self-determination and called for direct negotiations between the French and Algerian nationalists.

Before the ballot, amendments by Canada, Norway and Ireland were adopted to remove the self-determination reference — a red flag to the French — and call for negotiations.

Several Arab delegates indicated they would bring their original resolution before the 82-nation Assembly.

REPORT SUCCESS IN SNARK TEST

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force intercontinental guided missile—the Snark—flew its full range in a test this week and hit a target area in the South Atlantic, the Defense Department reported.

The missile, essentially a pilotless jet bomber, has a range of about 5,000 miles and travels at about the speed of sound. It is considerably slower than ballistic missiles.

The department announcement yesterday said the latest test firing took place Thursday night at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The time the missile hit the target area was not disclosed.

The Snark has been accepted as an operating weapon by the Air Force, which plans to set up the first squadron armed with Snarks this month.

New Yorkers Win In Bridge Tournament

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A New York City aggregation has won the national open team-of-four championship at the 31st annual winter tournament of the American Contract Bridge League.

The New Yorkers—Charles H. Goren, Mrs. Helen Sobel, Harold William Roti—finished the event last night with 39 match victories. Like other teams, they were permitted to use five players, but only four played at one time.

Two teams tied for second place with 37 match wins. One was composed of Charles J. Solomon of Philadelphia; Edgar Kalpin, Alfred Sheinwald and Ralph Hirschberg, all of New York; and Norman Kay of Merchantville, N.J. On the other team were Paul H. Rodge of Abilene, Tex.; R. Y. Barrett, Ben Fair and John Berber, all of Houston, and Harry Fishbein of New York.

YOUNG MARINES DENY SLAYING

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Two of three young Marines on trial for murder in the roadside slaying of a 23-year-old civilian denied on the witness stand yesterday they had contributed to his death.

Paul H. Faust, 18, of Baltimore, and William T. Powell, 19, of Cincinnati, both told the court they were in the crowd of Camp Lejeune Marines that pressed around Charles Sullivan of Wilmington after an argument over the civilian's wife.

But the two steadfastly denied they either shot or touched Sullivan, who died Sept. 20 from a bullet from his own rifle.

No Defense Testimony

No defense testimony was given yesterday for the third defendant, Wilbur Carter, 20, of Annapolis, Md., summing arguments are to begin Monday in New Hanover Superior Court.

In all, 10 Marines have been charged with second degree murder or manslaughter in the case. Seven others have been indicted and will be tried later.

Others under indictment include John Frangle, 18, York, Pa., and Richard Clitchall, Aldona, Pa.

ADMITTS THEFT IN SUICIDE TRY

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Ross Castangalo, 26, found Robert C. Baer, 39, in a parked car, with carbon monoxide fumes being piped in from the exhaust pipe.

He disconnected the hose and called police. Baer recovered. Yesterday, Castangalo called police again—to report he had taken $130 from Baer's wallet.

He was jailed but Dist. Atty. Louis Reynas ordered him freed because he had returned the money.

"I don't know what got into me," Castangalo said. "I guess I just mad because he was taking his life."

CLUB FINANCES

A. E. Warner, a cashier for the Hanover Savings Fund Society and a member of the Hanover Lions Club, was the guest speaker at the first December meeting of the Littlestown Lions Club on Thursday evening in the social hall of St. John's Lutheran Church. Mr. Warner, who addressed the group on club finances, was introduced by Edward F. Hawk, chairman of the Finance committee, in charge of the evening's program.

Visiting Lions introduced were J. Louis Shultz, president of the Hanover club, and Harry C. Stoner, secretary of the Hanover club. A donation of $5 was voted to the Salvation Army, and also a contribution of $5 to tuberculous Christmas seals. Paul L. Hollinger, third vice president, presided.

Plans were announced for the annual Family Night Christmas party to be held on Thursday, Dec. 19, at 7 p.m., in St. John's social hall. Arrangements are in charge of the Boys and Girls Committee, composed of Bernard M. Selby, W. A. Crabbs and Orville C. Sentz.

Plan TV Party

The Lions discussed plans to sponsor their annual television party and variety show in the spring. The date was set for Thursday, April 10, and the affair will be held in the Littlestown High School auditorium. The entertainment will be patterned after four popular TV shows — "Name That Tune," "The Big Pay-off," "I've Got a Secret" and "Masquerade Party." Committees for the event have been named as follows: Commercial program, Holman L. Sell and R. J. Stoner; after, co-chairmen, Erwin A. Robert, James U. Bowers, Paul L. Hollinger, Monroe J. Stavely and Sterling J. Wisotzky; production, Chester S. Byers, chairman, Clayton L. Evans, Charles H. Fissell, Harold O. Sentz, Herbert J. Sell and Wilbur A. Bankert; stage, Wilbur E. SANTA'S COMING
IS POSTPONED
UNTIL MONDAY

The arrival of Santa Claus in Littlestown was postponed from Friday evening to this Monday at 7 p.m., when he will be escorted to his headquarters on S. Queen St., beside the Littlestown State Bank, by the local high school band. The event was not held last evening due to the inclement weather and bad condition of the streets and roads.

The Men's Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran Church will observe Family Night with a Christmas party on Monday in the church social hall, 6:30 p.m., when a covered dish supper will be enjoyed. There will be an exchange of $1 gifts. A program is being arranged by Oliver Erb and David Erb. The host committee includes Edgar A. Wolfe, John Gentzler and the Rev. William C. Karns.

Nomination and election of officers will take place at the meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Alpha Fire Company No. 1 when guest night is observed with a Christmas party and covered dish supper on Monday, 6:30 p.m., at the engine house. Each member should take a covered dish and table service. Committees to serve for the affair include: General, Mrs. Annie Rebert, Mrs. Catherine Flickinger, Mrs. Odette Strevig and Mrs. Clara Kobil; table arrangements, Mrs. Mildred Wallick, Mrs. Alice Hartsock, Mrs. Betty Kauffman and Mrs. Carmen Slick; entertainment, Mrs. Viola Badders, Mrs. Annie Rebert, Mrs. Elva Weaver, Mrs. Annabelle Ohler and Mrs. Doris King.

Carol Sing December 20

The annual Christmas carol sing for the Brownies and Girl Scouts of the community will take place on Friday, December 20, at 7 p.m. beside the Littlestown State Bank building on S. Queen St., as announced by Mrs. Charles E. Ritter, neighborhood chairman. In case of rain on that evening, the caroling will be held on Monday, December 23. The singing will be in charge of Mrs. L. Robert Snyder, who will be assisted by the other troop leaders. Immediately following the caroling, the girls will be treated. Each troop will rehearse separately for the singing, with the leaders in charge of her troop's rehearsal.

Mrs. Ritter also announced that the monthly dance for the Brownies, scheduled for Monday, will not be held this month. The December meeting of the Girl Scout leaders, assistants and committee members, has been cancelled.

The annual Christmas party and covered dish supper of the Ladies' Ever Faithful Bible Class of Redeemer's United Church of Christ was held Friday evening in the church social hall. The invocation was offered by the Rev. Louis J. Hammann, pastor pro tem, prior to the meal. Group singing of carols followed, accompanied by Miss Sandra Hawk. A reading on Christmas was given by Edward F. Hawk, teacher of the class. Mrs. George Conover, president, presided and read the closing Christmas poem. A social hour concluded the evening, and gifts were exchanged by the members and their guests.

The officers and teachers of Redeemer's Church Children's Division will meet for departmental sessions on Monday, 7:30 p.m., in the church social hall. The group will meet jointly for a Christmas party and exchange of gifts. A fellowship supper and Christmas party will be enjoyed in connection with the quarterly meeting of the Friendship Circle Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Monday at the church at 6:30 p.m. Gifts will be exchanged. Arrangements are in charge of group one, composed of Mrs. Della Collins, Mrs. Aaron Miller, Mrs. Anna Heltbride and Mrs. Mildred Wherley.

PUC Schedules B&O
Services Cut Hearing

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission has set Jan. 22 for a hearing in Philadelphia on a proposal by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to end passenger service in Pennsylvania.

The proposal is part of B & O's plan to end its passenger service between Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

The railroad's line in Pennsylvania runs from Chester to near Wayne Junction where it connects with Reading Co. tracks to the New Jersey line.

B & O says it is losing five million dollars a year on its lines through Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania.

SNOOK SUCCESSOR NAMED

HARRISBURG (AP)—Fred D. Pick of Mifflinburg was named yesterday to the Union County Board of Assistance, succeeding the late Lester A. Snook, New Berlin.

WILL OPEN NEW
THURMONT ROAD

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, of Maryland, will be the speaker Wednesday at noon at the opening of the new Thurmont bypass.

State Senator Jacob R. Ramsburg will act as master of ceremonies and Governor McKeldin will make the dedicatory address and cut yellow and black silk ribbons placed across the new highway at its intersection with Maryland Route 77.

Other speakers listed on the program are Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, Delbert S. Null, president of the Frederick County Board of Commissioners, and C. Ray Weddie, mayor of Thurmont.

The bypass is an important segment of the improvement of all of Maryland's section of U. S. 15. The eventual plans call for the bypassing of Emmitsburg and Lewisburg as well as the bypass around Frederick now under construction. The bypass of Thurmont runs 4.4 miles from Little Thurmont Creek northerly to Owens Creek, about five miles south of Emmitsburg. In addition there are connections with Maryland Routes 77, 81 and old U. S. 15 in Thurmont. The contract was performed by Richard F. Kline of Frederick at its low bid of $1,094,331.

Hagen said there were no plans to call in the Army, particularly since the Navy already has a "back up vehicle"—another anguished—standing by for launching as soon as possible.

C. H. Schooley, Defense Department information chief, said also that the Army only recently was given a supplementary activity in the satellite launching field, and that its program was not so far along as the Vanguard program.

Asked if the pressure of world opinion or other factors pushed the Navy into a launching attempt before one should have been made, Walsh said this definitely was not true. "We were ready," he said.

Experts

more trial launchings, with miniature satellites, and that the new tests would be resumed as soon as possible.

Experts Gather Data

Technical experts of the Navy, the Martin Co., and of every subcontractor for the anguished rocket, anxiously awaited the processing of data gathered during the ill-fated test.

These include:

1. Information on the anguished stresses, pressures and temperatures in the launching attempt.

2. Engineering motion picture films of the 72-foot vehicle as it struggled unsuccessfully to lift itself into space.

Burns On Stand

Walsh, who watched the attempted launching from a hangar at a respectful distance, said the big rocket actually started to leave the stand, and in two seconds of burning rose from two to four feet off the ground. Then it settled back onto the launching stand, into the furious, blazing heat of its own exhaust.

Everything aboard the two bottom stages that would burn went up in a whoosh of flame, Walsh said.

Fueling the intense flames that shot 50 to 100 feet into the air were tons of liquid oxygen, kerosene, nitric acid and unsymmetrical dimethyl hydrazine, all of them highly volatile.

No Injuries Sustained

"Thank God the third stage didn't blow up," said one of the anguished workers. "If the third stage rocket's solid propellant had not been touched off, some of us might not be in such good shape today."

As it was, not one of the persons in the immediate area was hurt.

Walsh said that technically there had been a rapid burning rather than the violence of a real explosion.

Shock Wave Absent

He said that because it was not a high order of detonation there was no shock wave that might have inflicted further damage.

The rocket fell away from the control crews huddled in the nearby concrete blockhouse. The top part—the third stage, the 6.4 inch satellite sphere and the nose cone—hurtled to the ground a few yards away, untouched by the flames.

So sturdy was the tiny sphere that it never ceased sending out its weak radio signals.

Future Plans Discussed

Reporters asked if the Navy now that for the moment it had prepared to step aside for an Army launching attempt using the Jupiter-C missile and an Army-designed satellite.

Hagen said there were no plans to call in the Army, particularly since the Navy already has a "back up vehicle"—another anguished—standing by for launching as soon as possible.

C. H. Schooley, Defense Department information chief, said also that the Army only recently was given a supplementary activity in the satellite launching field, and that its program was not so far along as the Vanguard program.

Asked if the pressure of world opinion or other factors pushed the Navy into a launching attempt before one should have been made, Walsh said this definitely was not true. "We were ready," he said.

Driver Killed When
Car And Bus Collide

HARRISBURG (AP)—A bus and an automobile collided head on in nearby Overlook last night, killing the driver of the car and injuring the bus driver and his only passenger.

The motorist was identified as Larry G. Bittling, about 55, of Marysville. The bus driver, Anthony A. Bruce, 51, of Wormleysburg, was taken to Harrisburg Hospital, suffering a fractured pelvis and lacerations of the face. He was pronounced in satisfactory condition.

The passenger, Miss Florence Gandy, 29, of Duncannon, was treated at the hospital and released. The bus was owned by the alley Transportation Co.

the song was sung by a recording, the different windows lighted to show the gifts mentioned. The various "days" were staggered on the display so that a balance of lighting was maintained throughout until the ending when all 12 of the windows were lighted.

Other Top Winners

Members of the fraternity had to act as "traffic police" to keep traffic moving past the display slowly.

Immediately beside the first place winner was the third place Alpha Tau Omega display. By constructing a two-story front to their building, they turned the building into a church with a steeple. The church bell in the steeple swung slowly as if calling the public to church. A life sized figure of a minister was at the "church door," an automobile with members of the "congregation" alighting and other members of the "congregation walking the path to the "church door" were included in the scene.

The second place winner depicted Santa Claus and sleigh over the top of a huge globe representing the earth. Ail was made by use of paper inserted into a screen over the front of the house.

Others Outstanding

Numerous other displays were outstanding, among them "Frosty the Snowman" at the Sigma Nu house, the two story high "Frosty" moved its arms about and tipped its hat to the spectators. Another outstanding display was a "stained glass window" and choir at the Phi Delta Theta. A huge snow Santa attracted attention at Phi Sigma Kappa.

Only three winners were chosen however, and the trophies to those winners will be presented this afternoon at the jazz concert to be presented by the Interfraternity Council at the Gettysburg College gymnasium. Joe Rinaldi and his orchestra will be featured at the concert.

Each of the fraternities held a formal dance Friday night as part of the weekend activities. Tonight informal dances will be held at the fraternity houses.

SOVIETS LOSE
FIRST ROCKET

WASHINGTON (AP)—American scientists say there is no evidence that part of Russia's Sputnik I rocket fell in the United States, as claimed by Soviet Press Boss Nikita Khrushchev. And Moscow radio says the rocket still is aloft.

Khrushchev puzzled American officials yesterday with his claim that part of the carrier rocket fell in the United States and that the Americans won't give it back.

Some time after Khrushchev said this at a Moscow cocktail party, Moscow radio quoted scientist Ergueni Klinev as saying "The rocket of the first artificial satellite will burn up in the air in the near future and part of it may fall down to earth."

State Department Press Officer Joseph W. Reap said the United States would be glad to help look for the device if Russia made a formal inquiry.

dust." The noncommunist press in Rome was sympathetic.

Sees Ominous Signs

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) was one of those who professed to see ominous signs in the satellite launching flop.

Humphrey said the failure shows that "our lag in missile development is not something which can be made up in a few short weeks."

Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif.), one of those briefed on missile developments at the Pentagon recently, said the United States is not going to find new and better scientists overnight.

"We're going to have the same team in 1958 that we had in 1957," he said. "They are the ones who are going to have to produce our missiles and satellites. It can't be done by congressional action or administrative changes. It's going to take time."

Johnson Wants Report

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee told newsmen the satellite flop "dramatizes the importance of putting our best brains and resources into this missile program." Russell called the Cape Canaveral development "a grave blow to our already waning world prestige."

In Bonham, Tex., Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) said "I do trust they will put our scientists and engineers to work so we may be brought to the forefront" in scientific achievement.

In Amarillo, Tex., Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said his Senate Preparedness subcommittee will ask for a full report on the satellite launching explosion. The subcommittee has been investigating the U.S. missile-satellite programs in the light of Russian technological advances. It's next meeting is set for Dec. 13.

No Great Alarm

Top Defense Department officials indicated no great alarm at the satellite launching failure.

As he left for Paris to attend a NATO meeting, Secretary of Defense McElroy said "Of course it was disappointing, but it was not too surprising because it was our first try."

McElroy said the Navy's Vanguard satellite project is "in very good hands," adding: "We will proceed under plans previously made."

The Army has been ordered to prepare for a satellite launching, using its Jupiter-C Research rocket. McElroy said it is very unlikely the Army would launch a satellite before the Navy's Vanguard scientists mount another launching test. There were indications any Army launching effort could not come for some weeks.

Only An Accident

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles said "We of course regret the failure but regard it as an incident in the perfection of the Vanguard satellite system."

Quarles said that "since military rocketry was not involved we feel that this incident has no bearing on the program for the development of the intermediate range and intercontinental ballistic missiles, which are continuing to make fine progress."

Disputing this statement by

Quarles, Sen. Robertson (D-Va.) said the Russian Sputnik launchings demonstrated the Soviets have developed the propulsive capability for an intercontinental missile. Robertson said the Vanguard failure indicates the United States has not achieved such a capability.

Go On After Failures

Among the scientists, Dr. Joseph Kaplan, chairman of the U.S. committee for the International Geophysical Year, said in New York "It is very seldom that your first experiment succeeds. Research goes on after failures."

In Berkeley, Calif., Rocket research scientist Edmund V. Lalton said of the satellite launching failure "It was something that can be expected with any new device." Lalton, a professor at the University of California, added that "It probably happened repeatedly to the Russians."

Cmdr. Robert Truax, president of the American Rocket Society, said in New York that "In any test like this you have to expect failure."

Needed Less Publicity

Truax also commented that "Conducting a scientific test with a nation looking down their (the Vanguard crew's) throats, I would have been surprised if it were a success for that reason alone."

After the launching failure, Dr. John P. Hagen, director of Project Vanguard, said he felt there should have been less publicity, but that he was overruled.

Presidential Press Secretary Hagerty said the White House made no ruling on publicizing the Vanguard launching. He declined comment on whether he or Eisenhower felt the launching effort was overpublicized.

Didn't Promote It

At the Defense Department, officials said they knew of no overruling action such as Hagen mentioned. They said information was given out in response to requests from newsmen, but that no attempt was made to promote publicity for the launching.

Rep. Moss (D-Calif.), head of a House Government Operations subcommittee that has been pressing for greater information on government activities, differed with those who contended the satellite launching should have been kept in greater secrecy.

"Rather than more secrecy in matters of this type," Moss said, "we need more candor."

However, Sen. Robertson joined with other members of Congress in condemning the advance publicity on the attempted launching of Vanguard. He said if he had his way other tests would go unannounced until they were successful.

"Humiliating Failure"

Sen. Johnson, the Senate's Democratic leader, told a meeting in Amarillo that the Vanguard incident was "one of the best publicized—and most humiliating—failures in our history."

In Palm Springs, Calif., Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said it was a great mistake to give so much advance publicity to Vanguard launchings.

Rep. Durham (D-NC), chairman of the Senate—House Atomic Energy Committee, said there had been entirely too much advance publicity.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) proposed a blackout in advance of further efforts to launch U.S. satellites.

TEN YEARS AGO

Rohrbaugh Is President Of School Board: Paul M. Rohrbaugh, 141 Steinwehr Avenue, is the new president of the Gettysburg School Board. He was elected unanimously to this position to succeed Charles S. Black at the reorganization meeting of the board Monday night in the office of Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe, superintendent, in the high school.

George T. Raffensperger was unanimously elected vice president.

Pension Fund For Police In Town Is Voted: Borough Council Monday night voted to establish a police pension fund for the borough after it was pointed out that the pension fund could be operated at no expense to the borough.

Finish Girl Scout Leaders Training: Four women have completed the six-week Girl Scout Leaders Training Course which was conducted each Monday evening at Christian Lutheran Church by Miss Marian Tupper, Waynesboro, Girl Scout executive.

Those completing the course Monday were Mrs. David Baker, Miss Gloria Ecker and Miss Patricia Cole, all of Gettysburg, and Mrs. Floyd Morrow, Ardenville. Mrs. C. Harold Johnson, president of the Adams County Girl Scout Board, was present at Monday's meeting.

Hunters Bag 30 Deer On Opening Day: The deer hunting season started off with a "bang" in Adams County's woods Monday with reports to Game Protector Leo Bushman showing that approximately 30 deer were shot by sportsmen on the opening day.

Bus Service On Wednesday: A bus service will begin to operate over the streets of Gettysburg Wednesday morning, marking the first local bus service in the borough and the first purely local public transportation service since the street cars were discontinued several years ago.

The bus will be operated by Charles Pitzer.

Legion Votes To Incorporate Club Members: Members of the Albert J. Lentz Post of the American Legion voted Monday night to organize the American Legion Club of Gettysburg as a non-profit organization to operate the Legion home on Baltimore Street.

Guard Drills With Armored Car Tuesday: Members of Adams County's National Guard Unit Tuesday evening held their first drill with an armored car. The vehicle, first of three scheduled for the local unit, arrived at the armory Friday, Captain Robert L. Scott announced.

Waitman Again President Of School Board: Henry E. Waitman, was re-elected president of the Littlestown School Board at the organization meeting Monday night in the office of Paul E. King, supervising principal. Carl H. Baumgardner was elected vice president and Wilbur E. Mackley was sworn in as a new member.

Mrs. Scott Is President Of Trinity Circle: Mrs. S. Lester Scott, East Middle Street, was re-elected president of Trinity Circle of the Trinity Reformed Church Tuesday evening at a monthly meeting and Christmas party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Shearer, East High Street.

Other officers re-elected were Mrs. Fred Hummelbaugh, Buford Avenue, financial secretary, and Mrs. Curtis Flohr, West Middle Street, treasurer. Mrs. Robert P. Snyder, Buford Avenue, was elected vice president, succeeding Mrs. J. William Kendeheart, and Mrs. Charles Ogden, Baltimore Street, was chosen secretary.

Former Local Woman Now On College Board: Mrs. Charles Baker, Duquesne, was elected to the board of trustees of Gettysburg College at a meeting of the trustees in Philadelphia Tuesday. Mrs. Baker, the first woman in the history of the school to be elected to the board, is the former Miss Minerva Taughnbaugh of Gettysburg.

Today's Talk

RECORDED WORDS

What a blessing to the world are the millions upon millions of words and thoughts that have been recorded in type and books! There is no institution so valuable as a library. We can go back for 5,000 years and read the thoughts of the wise. We are inspired by them. They are wells of knowledge.

How wonderful that there is so much recorded! It has been said that there is nothing new under the sun, but there are endless interpretations and from these we have been able to read new explanations and new viewpoints. It is a cherished experience to read the books of those who delighted in the use of words that had quality and beauty to them. One of the greatest handlers of words in all literature was Lafcadio Hearn. He used words as delicate tools, and sculptured thoughts into books of beauty and magic. He often spent hours in the perfecting of a few lines of writing, such as in his essay on "A Drop of Dew."

What a master we have in the works of Shakespeare! There is a lifelong study in them alone. And where can there ever be a book written so vast in history, poetry, and narrative as to be found in the Bible — the world's greatest book? No book ever written can surpass the New Testament.

Great books live forever. In them are recorded the thoughts of men and women who had the message to deliver, and each one of us profits from their words. They are benefactors to the human race. Thoreau created one of the world's greatest books in his "Walden." He lived simply and wrote simply. We are his debtors!

Just Folks

THE WHISTLING BOY
Whistle, little boy, for me.
Whistle just a simple song.
Let me hear your melody.
Take me back to days long gone
When, a little boy like you,
Ere my hair was tinged with gray,
Trudging homeward, as you do,
I, too, whistled on my way.

Whistle, now, some lively air —
"Dixie Land," and I will dream
That I'm trooping with you there,
Wandering along the stream
Where I used to fish and play;
All the years that I have passed
Will but seem like yesterday
While your merry tune shall last.

CANADIANS TO GET TAX CUT

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadians will pay 178 million dollars less next year in personal and corporation income taxes and in automobile purchase levies, the government announced last night.

All the country's 4½ million income tax payers will benefit. For those with taxable incomes over $2,000 the changes will mean a savings of $30—and more if they have dependents or buy cars.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming announced to Parliament that effective Jan. 1 the new Conservative government will:

Reduce the rate on the first $1,000 of taxable income from 13 to 11 per cent and on the second $1,000 from 15 to 14 per cent. This will cost the government 86 million dollars.

Increase tax exemptions for all dependents by $100, which will reduce government income by 60 million dollars.

And cut income taxes for corporations with earnings of more than $20,000, a tax loss of 12 million dollars.

The excise tax on new cars was lowered as of today from 10 to 7½ per cent, costing the government 20 million dollars. An immediate effect of this was a reduction in the price of some cars.

Governor Leader Speaks In Tacoma

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Gov. Leader of Pennsylvania says "an unhappy state of affairs" prevails in America, but he said Democrats "have no right to seek partisan advantage" from the situation.

Leader, in a speech at a Tacoma Democratic dinner in the wind-up of a three-day West Coast trip, said:

"It is up to our party to give its wholehearted support to the President in any sound action he may take to help us preserve peace and to strengthen our defenses along with those out our allies. . . . It is our obligation to talk sense, to be constructive, and to help mold the nation's course of action."

He advocated keeping the armed services strong and well provided with both conventional and atomic weapons. Leader also urged that the U. S. "stop treating basic research as the unwanted stepchild of national defense."

PROBERS CALL WITNESSES IN BLAST IN STORE

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators investigating labor violence called witnesses today for testimony about the dynamiting of a Knoxville, Tenn., grocery store while it was involved in a dispute with the Teamsters Union.

B. B. Powers, the owner of the store, was summoned as the lead-off witness. Others described as having firsthand knowledge of who was responsible for the dynamiting were listed to follow.

Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, said two Nashville police officers "who have some information about the Teamsters Union having dynamite equipment" also would testify.

"Shocking Pattern"

The committee, as part of a broad inquiry into illegal or improper activities in the labor-management field, is currently probing what Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) has called "a shocking pattern of deliberate goon squad violence" in Tennessee and neighboring states.

Kennedy said in advance of today's hearing that damage running into "the thousands of dollars" was done to Powers' grocery store by a dynamite blast on Sept. 6, 1956.

At the time, he said, Powers was engaged in a dispute with the Teamsters over his handling of Coca-Cola while a strike was going on at the local Coca-Cola plant.

Claims Political Influence

Mrs. Lola Freels, former secretary to Teamsters Local No. 21 in Knoxville, testified yesterday that Teamsters terrorists seemingly escaped punishment for dynamitings and other crimes because of political influence.

Hal H. Clements, district attorney general (prosecutor) at Knoxville, told a reporter later he was "going to put her story before the first session of a grand jury we can have."

But Clements said "There is no politics" in law enforcement in his jurisdiction and that the men Mrs. Freels had named as having committed crimes were people who oppose him politically.

Shooting Unsettled
Mrs. Freels swore among other things that the still unsolved shooting up of two trucks on a Tennessee highway in June 1955 was the work of W. A. (Hard-Hearing Smitty) Smith, a Teamster official from Nashville. She also testified that Smith was brought to Knoxville by W. J. Reynolds, then president of Local 21, to do the job.

Det. John T. Reynolds of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Investigation had acknowledged previously that he had told a committee staff investigator that political reasons might have had something to do with the way he investigated the shooting up of the trucks. He acknowledged he had made no arrests. The committee said Detective Reynolds and Teamster Reynolds are not related.

Clements said he and Chief of Detectives B. L. Waggoner of the Knoxville Police Department came to Washington as observers at the hearing because they had learned Mrs. Freels wanted to talk. The prosecutor said she previously had refused to give Knoxville authorities a signed statement of what she knew about union officials and Teamster violence. "From what she says to me now, she was intimidated," he said.

Jap Is Taken Ill After Star Dinner

MANILA (AP)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi of Japan was reported much better today after becoming ill following a state dinner given by President Carlos P. Garcia.

The 61-year-old Prime Minister was confined to his bed this morning with stomach and intestinal trouble. He scheduled lengthy meetings with Garcia later today to discuss disputes between their two nations over World War II reparations, trade and travel curbs.

Kishi is visiting here as the last stop on a Southeast Asian tour. A spokesman said he would leave for Tokyo tonight as scheduled.

Pearl Harbor Day Raises Questions: Japs Could Not Foresee Retribution

MOST AMERICANS now twenty-five years of age, or older, have at least one thing in common. They can recall exactly where they were, what they were doing and how they felt in the afternoon of Sunday, December 7, 1941. Most of them then realized that something was happening that was changing their lives — was changing the world!

This memory land mark, in most instances, was the blast of a radio that Pearl Harbor was being bombed. Few believed it the first time they heard it. Many spun the dial, in search of a less absurd program.

When they found the same news was coming in from "all over the dial," then, and not until then, did they believe it to be a valid news cast. America was being bombed into another World War.

AMONG casual acquaintances today it is often a conversational gambit to ask: "Where were you when Pearl Harbor was bombed?" The reply is always an unflinching, forthright, positive statement: "I was just out of Des Moines, headed south on highway 69 and had the car radio on . . ." "I was reading comic strips to the kids when Joe, from across the alley, beat on the back door and hollered . . ." "These are typical responses."

The most unique answers I ever received to that query were from a salesman and a civil engineer. The former said: "I was in Toledo . . . the first of the big defense orders for our firm . . . We celebrated . . . slept all day Sunday and Sunday night . . . down to breakfast . . . seemed the world had gone nuts . . . so much excited gab . . . everyone was rubbing out and beginning over . . . for me it was the lostest, lost weekend I ever lost!"

THE CIVIL ENGINEER was with a crew laying out an airport on an unheard of island for an airline no one had ever heard of. The island was Guadalcanal. It was for possession of that half completed air strip that triggered a long series of bloody land and severe naval battles for Guadalcanal. About the same time there arrived at Guadalcanal a refugee from western civilization. Frightened by the war clouds over Europe and the drift of Asia and America toward conflict, this wealthy man had chosen Guadalcanal as the last place on the face of the earth that would be affected.

He would sit the war out on this quiet, secluded tropical island. He spent the Guadalcanal phase dodging bombs, shells, bullets. The engineer who told me of him said his theme became: "You just can't outguess the unleashed dogs of war!"

SEVERAL BOOKS are devoted entirely, or in major parts thereof, to Pearl Harbor. In terms of naval history, Samuel E. Morison's "Rising Sun in the Pacific" is the best. Blake Clark's "Remember Pearl Harbor" was printed but two years after the episode. Much was not then known, but he captures the impact of the event upon America better than do most.

"Admiral Kimmel's Story" by the top commander present and the "Final Secret of Pearl Harbor" by Rear Admiral Theobald are more or less official apologies, but they tell much the public should know.

Walter Mills, a New York editor with a fast moving literary style well suited to dramatic, military narration, wrote "This Is 'Pearl'" about ten years ago. For the happy combination of entertainment and information, it is one of the best.

The most recent is "Day of Infamy," by Walter Lord, whose "Night to Remember," devoted to the sinking of the Titanic, 1912, has pretty well identified his name with disaster history. Both books

SMART BUCK

MILTON, Pa. (AP)—Add a new advantage of higher education: A deer frightened by hunters near this Central Pennsylvania town took refuge in the Milton Area Joint High School building. The buck leaped through a window and made a tour of the trade shops before departing through another window when officials came to open the school for classes.

Mounts Edge Steubenville 67-66; Meet Georgetown At Washington Wednesday

A long set shot by Tom Rudderow, 4-8 freshman, broke a 64-64 tie with less than two minutes of play remaining as the Mt. St. Mary'sagers, who trailed most of the way, held on in the waning seconds to tip Steubenville, O. 67-66 Friday evening in a hotly waged contest before 1,200 fans at Emmitsburg.

The score was close all the way. The Barons jumped off to an early 1-1 lead before the Mount caught up and finally moved ahead for a short-lived 9-8 lead on Bill Morse's foul after five minutes of action. Successive fouls by John Clark, Jim Smith and another by Clark sent the Barons ahead 15-13 midway in the first half and the invaders never lost the lead the remainder of the half although the Mount pulled up into a 27-27 deadlock on a set by Charley O'Donnell, two fouls by Bill Williams and a jump toss by O'Donnell. At intermission Steubenville was on top 37-32.

Mount Catches Up
Clark gave the Barons their biggest lead with a set shot to open the second half and then the Mountainers sprinted to finally catch up at 43-43 after seven minutes.

The teams traded point for point thereafter and with less than five minutes of play remaining Smith hooked to shot to give the Barons a 50-50 margin. Jack Gunn sank two fouls for the Mount and Jack Marshall followed with a goal. Fred Burda connected for Steubenville on a jump and Don Rowe set the Barons ahead 64-63 with a pair of fouls with 3:35 left.

Jerry Bohlinger landed a free toss for the Mount to again tie the score. Rudderow then fired his set shot which put the Mountainers on top 66-64 with less than two minutes remaining. Jack Gunn converted from the free throw lane with 1:37 left. Bob Zak heaved a long shot for Steubenville with a minute remaining to make it 67-66. The Barons secured possession with about 40 seconds remaining and waited for one shot which missed and then had time to fire several more which rimmed the basket only to fall outside.

Bohlinger and Williams sparked the Mounts with 19 and 17 tallies. The big gun for the Barons was its highly touted star Jim Smith who collected 23. The Mount converted 31 of 43 foul shots and the Barons 16 of 31.

Busy Week Ahead
Next Wednesday the unbeaten Mountainers go after their third straight against Georgetown at Washington, D. C. A collegiate twin bill will be played at Emmitsburg Friday evening, Kings Point meeting Loyola at 8 o'clock and the Mount opposing Hofstra in the second game. The same four teams will play Saturday at Loyola where the Greyhounds meet the Mountainers in the first game and Kings Point opposes Hofstra.

ENOLA CAGERS DOWN CANNERS

A last quarter spurt failed the Bigville High dribblers who bowed to Enola on the latter's court Friday evening 43-37.

Bernie Thrush's outfit fell behind 14-5 in the opening quarter and never could make up the gap. At half time the score was 26-15.

Eleven Cannners broke into the scoring column with Jay Zeigler being high man for the evening with 13 points. Walls led Enola with an even dozen.

The Bigville reserves dropped the preliminary 51-29.

CLEVELAND CAN WRAP TITLE UP IN SUNDAY TILT

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

The Cleveland Browns, occupying the driver's seat in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League, can wrap up the division title Sunday with a tie or victory over the Detroit Lions.

The Browns-Lions game at Detroit highlights a pivotal weekend in NFL circles with intriguing possibilities offered if Detroit can upend mighty Cleveland. The Browns probably will be without the services of their injured first-string quarterback, Tommy O'Connell.

The Detroit players also will be awaiting the outcome of the Baltimore Colts-San Francisco 49ers game at Frisco. The Colts, leading the Western Conference, can clinch at least a tie for the championship by winning even if Detroit keeps pace with them.

Triple Tie Possible
On the other hand, Detroit and San Francisco victories can throw the race into a triple tie. All three teams would have 74 records.

The New York Giants hoped to keep their Eastern crown hopes alive by defeating the Pittsburgh Steelers today. If the Giants lost, they would be eliminated no matter what Cleveland does against Detroit.

A Giants' triumph and a Browns' setback would call for a championship showdown contest a week from Sunday when the two teams clash in New York.

In other games Sunday the Chicago Bears meet their cross-town rivals, the Chicago Cards; the Green Bay Packers visit the Los Angeles Rams; and the Washington Redskins entertain the Philadelphia Eagles.

These encounters involve the bottom three teams in each conference with nothing at stake except prestige and a chance to improve their position in the standings.

KENNARD-DALE DOWNS L-TOWN

Littlestown's inexperienced dribblers submitted to a 73-37 lacing at the hands of Kennard-Dale Friday evening on the Littlestown court.

Kennard-Dale captured a 23-11 lead in the first period and was never threatened. At half time the Rams were in command 39-23.

Jim Patterson topped the Thunderbolts with nine points while Chacker Ecker led the winners with 23.

The Littlestown jayvees also bowed, 52-24.

TAR HEELS IN SEASON OPENER AT CHAPEL HILL

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

North Carolina's Tar Heels, national college basketball champions, make the plunge into the 1957-58 season today looking for their 33rd consecutive victory but no longer armed with Lemmie Rozenbluth or Joe Quigg.

The Counterfeit Confederates—most of 'em are from the New York area—go against Clemson at Chapel Hill, N.C., in the inaugural of the Atlantic Coast Conference's Saturday afternoon regional TV series.

Even without Rozenbluth, the graduated All America, or Quigg, sidelined by a fractured leg, the Tar Heels don't figure to have too much trouble. They have six let termen back, and Clemson figures to be pooped.

LOGART SCORES DECISION OVER GASPAR ORTEGA

By CHARLES R. HORNICK
CLEVELAND (AP)—Isaac Logart, the top-ranked welterweight, contender, was a step farther along the road to the title today and ready to fight anyone to gain the championship.

The 24-year-old Cuban scored a unanimous decision over Gaspar Ortega of Mexico at the Cleveland Arena last night in the first of a series of elimination bouts for the 147-pound crown, which was relinquished by Carmen Basilio last summer after he won the middleweight title from Sugar Ray Robinson. Logart weighed 145 pounds, Ortega 145½.

The 12-round televised fight was the feature event on the 32nd annual Cleveland News Toyshop Fund boxing program, witnessed by 6,314 fans who paid a total of $34,990.

EVEN THE SCORE

Logart's victory evened his score with Ortega, 22, a full-blooded Indian who had won split decisions in their last two encounters. The Cuban won their first bout, also by unanimous decision.

Judge Herb Williams scored last night's bout 56-54. Judge Bill Tomson, 55-52, and Referee Mike Minnich, 56-50. The Associated Press card had Logart in front, 57-52.

There were no knockdowns and both fighters were unmarked after the fight, but Logart staggered his opponent in the sixth, and eighth rounds with a series of rights and lefts to the head. The lean, lanky Mexican fell against the ropes in the ninth round, but Referee Minnich ruled he was not knocked down and there was no count.

MARRIED BY COMPLAINTS

Complaints and warnings of low blows marred the fight in the early rounds. Ortega dropped to his knees in the second, complaining he had been hit low and Minnich took a point away from the Cuban in that round.

Logart's handlers received a warning from the referee during the intermission between the third and fourth rounds when they objected to his ruling and claimed Ortega was hitting low.

Ortega was warned to keep his blows higher in the seventh round and then drew cheers from the crowd with a two-fisted attack to Logart's head.

BERMUDIAN JT. ADDS 4TH WIN

The Bermudian Joint boys won their fourth victory in as many starts by drubbing Quincy at East Berlin Friday evening 60-39.

After a comparatively close first period, Bermudian took a 30-25 lead at half time and breezed through easily. Charley Chronister was the big mar on the attack for the winners with 26 tallies.

The Quincy girls defeated the Bermudian girls in the preliminary. Manchester will play at East Berlin Monday evening.

Notre Dame And SMU Meet Today

DALLAS (AP)—Notre Dame and Southern Methodist square off today in one of the last games of the college football season with nothing much at stake except the desire of each team to make a better showing than the other.

Notre Dame already has done so but victory over SMU would give the Irish a 7-3 record that would compare with most of the top college teams of the country.

Southern Methodist also has exceeded expectations but a loss today would drop the Methodists below a winning record, winding them up at 4-5-1.

A crowd of 50,000 was expected for the kickoff in the Cotton Bowl.

LAYNE FOUND "NOT GUILTY"

DALLAS (AP)—A jury of 11 women and one man deliberated only 24 minutes yesterday before acquitting dapper Detroit Lions quarterback Bobby Layne of a drunk driving charge.

Layne said the ordeal was "worse than any football game I ever played."

Conviction could have meant two days in jail.

The handsome 200-pounder, in a suit driving slowly, told the jury he had about six highballs before police arrested him at about 2:10 a.m. Nov. 17. He denied that the whiskey impaired his driving ability and said, "I don't count my drinks. I would say that I had about six, but I was not under the influence to the point where it hurt me."

One woman juror, leaving the courtroom, remarked, "Bobby ought to give us women a big kiss for letting him off."

CHICAGO (AP)—Four Olympic gymnasts and a host of Big Ten stars will begin season competition tonight in the Mid-West Open Gymnastics Championships at the University of Chicago.

The meet will pit Olympians Armando Vega of Penn State, Able Grossfield of Illinois, Ed Gagner of Michigan, and Fred Lecuna of Florida State against each other for the all-around championship.

All Big Ten schools have entries in the meet although there will be no team score.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The New York—Pennsylvania Baseball League batting championship for 1957 went to Paul Owens, veteran manager of the Olean Oilers, who claimed a hefty .407 average.

The official figures, announced last night, also show Tony Gonzalez of Hornell took home run honors with 22. Fred Duval of Corning led the league in triples with 10 and Dick Sellinger of Wellsville hit 37 doubles, tops in the two-bagger department. Ken Kravak of Batavia led in hits with 157 and in total bases with 244.

Warriors Have Three Vets On Court Squad; Open 20-Game Schedule At Delone

Although there will be three regulars from last year's team available, the Gettysburg High School dribblers will be lacking in experience and, in particular, height.

Coach George Porney, whose Warriors open at Delone next Friday evening, has Earl Little, 6-0 senior and third high scorer in the South Penn League last year; Kenny Keefe, 5-9, and Sidney Steinhour, 6-0, seniors, from last year's squad. There are 28 candidates seeking varsity berths and of the group only nine are six-footers and none go over that mark.

Graduation took a heavy toll of the bigger players last year, the Warriors losing Tom Kizmiller, Bobby Hess and Jon Wagnild. In addition John Millard, a promising six-footer, and Tom Flowers, 6-4, both of whom were counted upon this season, have transferred to other schools.

SEE NL VICTORY IN DECISION ON COMMITTEE OF 4

By FRANK PITMAN
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Baseball's major leagues, fusing over who gets the New York territory vacated by the Giants, have pitched the problem to a committee of four—two from each loop.

The postponement of a decision on the territory fight at yesterday's final session of the major annual meeting was regarded as a National League victory.

Amendments to baseball law proposed by each league were withdrawn at the meeting presided over by Commissioner Ford Frick. The Americans sought to establish exclusive rights in the New York area with the exception of Brooklyn. The Nationals wanted to add the borough of Queens to that of Brooklyn as open territory for future entry.

No Amendment Offered

An amendment has not been offered but the current plan of the Nationals is to make available for future entry all five New York boroughs and Long Island.

The controversy stems from the National League Giants moving to San Francisco and the Dodgers shifting to Los Angeles.

Named to the committee were Roy Egan, attorney for the Chicago White Sox; Frank Lane, Cleveland, general manager; Gabe Paul, Cincinnati Redlegs, president; and Dick Meyer, executive vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Begin This Month

They will begin work this month and report to the next majors meeting in New York City in February.

Other actions at the joint meeting of the majors included:

1. Repeal of the bonus rule, in effect for the past five years.

2. Creation of a four-year draft that gives more liberty to minor league players.

3. Raising of the waiver price on players from $10,000 to $20,000, for ball players.

5. Raising the minimum major league salary from $6,000 to $7,000 annually.

Ratify Decisions

The action on the bonus rule and the four-year player draft ratified similar decisions of the minor leagues at their convention here last Thursday.

The bonus rule provided that any player signed to his first contract for more than $4,000 must be retained on the major's roster for at least two years. Clubs had complained the rule was violated by off-the-record deals and enforcement was impossible.

Players on teams of AA classification and higher will be subject to unrestricted selection after four years under the new draft law. There are shorter periods for lower classification clubs.

Watch Feed Consumption When Thermometer Drops, County Agent Zettle Says

FRANK ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

Watch feed consumption to avoid winter slumps in egg production. Other conditions, such as housing, health and weather may affect feed consumption but even when these factors are under control attention to adequate feeding management is still important.

The America breeds will consume an average of 25 to 30 pounds of feed per 100 fowls daily. Leghorns 20 to 25 pounds daily. When body weight is satisfactory and production approximately 50 per cent, equal amounts of grain and mash may be adequate for production and body weight maintenance. When production goes above this point, this condition may not prevail. The feeder, therefore, must have some knowledge of the proportionate amounts being consumed and, by a judicious handling of these feed mixtures, provide the feed intake which will give satisfactory results.

Appetite can be stimulated and the effect of environmental changes modified by juggling the grain and mash intake to meet requirements. Production slumps may result from lack of mash consumption, rather than grain, since mash contains more of the kind of material required to produce eggs.

Meet Fowl's Requirements

In cold weather heavy grain feeding at night helps the fowl during the period spent on the roosts. Several light feedings of grain scattered in the litter may be helpful. In extremes of weather fowls in cold houses are inclined to huddle in corners or on the roosts during the daytime. Auxiliary feeding helps, too. A hot mash may stimulate activity. Judicious use of artificial lights maintains a longer feeding day.

Keep feed consumption at a normal rate, meeting the fowl's requirements. During very cold weather when slumps have occurred, get as much feed into the fowls as they will reasonably take. After the cold wave is spent, the fowls will rapidly return to normal production if they have not been too seriously affected in health.

The Weeders Guide

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeature Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — "I brought up the general subject of Christmas gifts the night George and Edith came for dinner," said my neighbor earnestly, "and I just dropped into the conversation that this year I'd rather have a hundred pounds of wild bird seed than almost anything else. I hope they were listening carefully — but I suppose they'll send us the same old expensive box of cut flowers."

This is indeed a season for listening carefully. By listening to chance — and sometimes not so chance — remarks I've made several revisions on my own Christmas shopping list. One relative, originally slated for a dozen old-fashioned glassware, will receive instead spring delivery on four flowering shrubs; the family has moved from a city apartment to a new house in the suburbs. My neighbor, who hinted about bird seed, will get from me a large galvanized iron garbage pail, which, I have learned, is the best way to store bird seed in the garage. (This was a lesson expensively learned from the neighborhood squirrels and chipmunks.)

And the time spent on each chore is an important factor.

Farmers showed visit 'back and forth with their neighbors to cross check their chore routines. Each can profit from short cuts seen in other barns.

Standard Suggestions

These standard suggestions are offered: Watering cups accessible to each cow; enough faucets for quick, easy cleanups; stall arranged lengthwise in the barn with cows facing out and cross alleys where needed.

Also, litter alleys eight feet wide; feed alleys and cross alleys four feet wide to accommodate feed carts (one trip with a cart saves 16, with a bushel basket); adjustable stanchions to vary stall length; make gutters 16 or 18 inches wide for gutter cleaners, now or later.

Place silo and feed storage and the milk house near as possible to center of stalls. Locate feed rooms next to silo, and bedding chutes at end of litter alley. Install shutters over each feed alley for overhead hay storages; throw down a day's supply each trip into the mow.

Make alleys and feed rooms large enough for working ease. More materials in the largest amounts possible. Use machines to do the work wherever practical and possible. Keep in mind further expansion with every change made.

Xmas Bargains

In the course of my Christmas shopping, I have picked up bargains because gardening tools and supplies are out of season here. These included one of those big bamboo leaf rakes, a small glass and galvanized duster, a plastic hose complete with wheel to wind it on, an oil-testing kit — all marked down for clearance.

There are always floral gifts for those who are interested in indoor and outdoor gardening. One thoughtful friend of mine each year pots up a couple of dozen spring-flowering bulbs for forcing, buries them in the cutting garden for six or eight weeks and at Christmas season distributes them — along with her regular gifts.

The receiver has the pleasure of watching the bulbs grow and, finally, flower.

Popular Holiday Gift

The most popular holiday gift plants are, of course, the poinsettia, azalea, Jerusalem cherry and cyclamen. Most of us have little success trying to bring these through another year to flower again. This is particularly true of cyclamen. If you are giving an azalea to a gardening friend, make certain it is the hardy, outdoor growing type which can be planted after the holidays.

Keep Poinsettias Dry

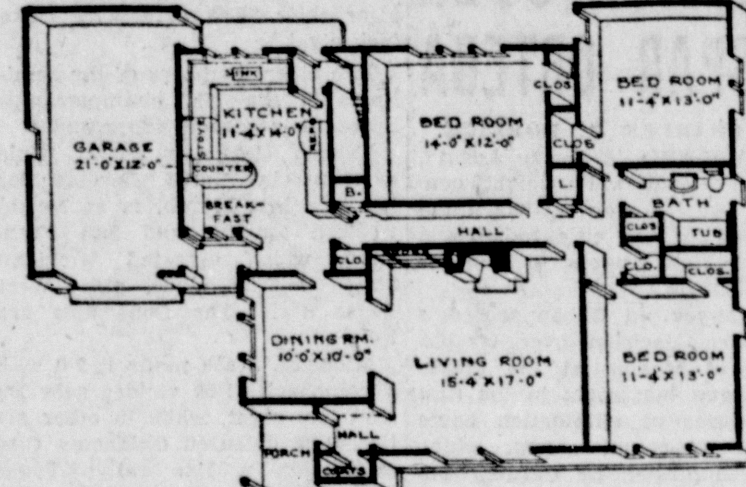

Poinsettias, after blooming, should be kept dry and left in the cellar. Sometime in May they should be cut back severely, watered and given full light. The following month sink the pot in the garden, water and feed it. Bring it inside early, put in a bright window and give it plenty of water. Maybe it will bloom.

Jerusalem cherry, like cyclamen, is a poor houseplant — mostly because it insists on growing temperatures intolerable for humans — 50 degrees, and is also very fussy about drafts.

I think that when a gift plant is indicated, one that can live comfortably with people is a better choice, even if it is not, somehow, quite as Christmas-like in spirit. Apartment dwellers with difficult exposures to sun will be able to enjoy foliage plants for months; there are African violets, impatiens and many others which bloom over a long period. And are much less fussy.

Breakfast Nook Too

Both a living room and a dining room are provided for in this house plan. The lady-of-the-house will appreciate the fact that the dining room opens directly off the kitchen.

Strictly modern in appearance, "The Valley," offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, features a compact six-room interior.

The distinctive styling of this house makes it especially suitable for a somewhat rural setting. Select a naturally attractive site — preferably one with a better than average view — and you'll have the ideal setting for your house; a setting that will make an unusually attractive home even more appealing.

Measuring 57 by 36 feet, this house has a cubage of 27,000 feet. Garage cubage is 3,500 feet. You'll need about an 80-foot lot to build the house and attached garage.

Exterior Stain

California redwood — or some other type of stained wood — is suggested for the exterior finish of this house. Such a finish is the perfect complement to the architecture of the house and also is most suitable for the suggested rustic setting.

Inside, "The Valley" is every bit as modern as the exterior suggests. Careful planning permits easy passage throughout the house without walking through the center of rooms to do so. Nine closets provide plenty of centrally located storage space. There are three good-sized bedrooms. One of these rooms can be used as a guest room if such arrangement best suits your convenience. Each of these rooms features good lighting and ventilation. And their locations assure privacy and quietness.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost.

For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, The Gettysburg Times, Dept. 18, and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

ON THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Capping more than 20 years of conflict and confusion, the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) is finally writing a new nationwide "bible" on minimum home-building requirements. It is expected to be completed by Jan. 1, 1958.

Experts say the new standards may save the building industry millions of dollars and have a far-reaching effect on residential construction in the next decade.

For the home buyer, it may mean better houses at less money and far greater flexibility in experimenting with modern or "revolutionary" architectural techniques.

"If a man has a good idea for building a house, no matter how novel it may be, we'll consider it under the new program," said William J. O'Connor, deputy director of the FHA's architectural standards division.

Under the old standards, he indicated, the FHA might have been automatically required to reject proposed innovations which it now plans at least to consider.

More Design Leeway

One expected result will be to allow builders a lot more leeway in originality of design while still maintaining high standards of quality and durability to protect the home buyer.

O'Connor said the FHA is working closely with the building industry on the new "bible." Written jointly by the FHA and a special advisory task force, the proposed new standards, if adopted, will entirely replace the FHA's old "five-foot bookshelf" comprising 23 separate volumes on the subject of minimum property standards (mps).

Following its creation under the National Housing Act in 1934, the FHA at one time had 54 different standards, each covering a few states or regional offices. These were eventually whittled down to the present 23.

Then came the great post-World War II building boom, paced by an upsurge of mass community building developments as millions of apartment house "cliff dwellers" rushed to the suburbs and the outlying countryside.

As a result, O'Connor said, up to $50 per house.

builders often found they were caught in a briar-patch tangle of conflicting regulations as newly built communities spread across state lines into areas where an entirely different set of rules applied.

A residential construction in one state might win FHA approval with flying colors, for example, while an identical structure would run into all kinds of hot water in an adjoining state.

Large-scale makers of prefabricated houses found it particularly difficult to comply with the conflicting regulations then in effect.

The upshot, said O'Connor, was that all hands agreed the FHA should set up a nationwide set of requirements, couched in simple terms, to eliminate the chaotic conditions of the past. The agency and its task force have spent two years working up the new standards.

The FHA's minimum property have nothing to do with local building codes. The FHA's prime interest deals with marketability and mortgage risks.

"As far as the buyer is concerned, what we are striving for is greater flexibility in design and cost savings which will permit lower prices for housing," O'Connor said. However, he warned that some costs may be higher because of the new specifications.

Most of the proposed changes are so technical in nature as to be mere jabberwocky to the average layman, but a few are reasonably understandable. These include:

Bedroom Rule May Go

A proposal to junk the old requirement that bedrooms must have a minimum area. Under the new setup, instead of having four minimum-size bedrooms, the build could have two kingsize bedrooms and two small rooms or one master bedroom for husband and wife and three medium-size rooms for the kids.

The new standards would also permit lighter concrete mixes which might save up to $30 a house, and would allow the use of new insulating material (such as fiber glass) which could save up to $50 per house.

BLUEPRINT FOR PEACE

Behind every structure, whether large or small, intricate or simple, there's a blueprint. And behind every blueprint there's a vision.

Someone has a dream. He explains it to an architect. Using the tools of his trade, the architect makes a blueprint—a plan to show workmen how to build what was first conceived in a dream.

Centuries upon centuries ago God had a vision. He made man in His image, then gave him the tools to fashion a blueprint. The Bible was the result—a blueprint for right-living for every man who breathes.

God is the Supreme Architect. Under Him today churches work to show man how to use the Bible as a blueprint for his own life. When that plan is followed, life is good. When it is ignored, confusion and disaster result.

Let the church of your choice show you and your family how to follow the blueprint for peaceful living.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday School Lesson

By H. R. and M. C. Gold

THAT I MAY KNOW CHRIST

Philippians 3:4-14, 20-21
Key Verse: I count everything as loss because of the surpassing worth of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord, Philippians 3:8.

Advent is the season of preparation for the coming of Christ Jesus. Sometimes we fail to realize the significance of the season or its true purpose. We should stop and think, Whom are we waiting to receive? What does Christ mean to me?

These are the very simple but penetrating questions Paul was trying to explain and interpret to the Christians at Philippi. Paul generally used his own experience as an example of what Christians could expect in their own lives. Not every Christian meets Christ face to face as Paul did on the Damascus road, but certainly every Christian must experience the same self-examination. Each one must come to a realization of his own inadequacy and insufficiency, in other words, regardless of background, each person must know and feel his own spiritual needs. In Paul's case, God had to uproot his whole nature to find the new man.

Spiritual Heritage

Paul had a great spiritual heritage from his Hebrew background. His family were of the tribe of Benjamin. He spoke the language, and observed the law and customs of his forefathers. His training was exceptional, for he had studied in the best Hebrew schools. He was proud and confident and decidedly zealous. We see his fanaticism as he explains, "as to zeal a persecutor of the church, as to righteousness under the law blameless."

Despite his training and zeal as an orthodox Jew, Paul lacked something. His self-righteousness was a spiritual hindrance until he met Christ. After his conversion, the new Saul (then Paul) knew that his soul's need was suddenly satisfied. His whole spiritual outlook had changed. This is the reason he writes, "But whatever gain I had, I counted a loss for the sake of Christ."

Knowing Christ is the chief thing. It is not a matter of intellectual evaluation, but the total experience of the whole man. This means having fellowship with Christ, understanding His will for us, and being receptive to His Spirit. What then does man receive or experience? Paul answers, "Not having a righteousness of my own, based on law, but that which is through faith in Christ, the righteousness from God that depends on faith."

Accept God's Grace

Righteousness does not come from strict adherence to the law, but by accepting God's grace and will. To lose the world and gain spiritual integrity is the heart of Paul's message. This is what Christ means to him and countless other faithful Christians. Not until we find righteousness in God, can we hope to deserve salvation. This is the reason Paul urges the Philippians to press on as he is: "But one thing I do, forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead, I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus." This new life in Christ must be abundantly evident, showing that one lives by God's grace and according to His Spirit.

Paul suggests how the Christians can be an influence in their community. He asks them to be a "colony" of Christ, a community which demonstrates to a heathen, materialistic world what it means to be and live like a child of God. In Philippi was a Roman "colony"—a group of Roman families with official positions, living as they would in Rome, with Roman laws, customs, and standards. Here was a great opportunity for the Philippians to witness to Christ. To really lay hold of the gospel the Christian must live in Christ, believe in Him humbly and implicitly, and seek righteousness—a truly divine quality.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Prince Richard, seeking Santa Claus, joins a circus travelling North. The circus bills him as the Strongest Boy in the World.

CHAPTER FOUR THE STRONG BOY

That night the circus opened in Mittenpo.

First there was the elephant act. Then the trapeze artists. Then the bareback riders.

Finally Mr. Maxim came into the ring. He wore white riding pants and a tall coat. He carried a long black whip.

"Ladies and gentlemen!" he announced. "I now present to you the Strongest Boy in the World!" The band began to play and all the children in the audience cheer and the grownups twisted in their seats to see.

But there was no Strong Boy to be seen.

At the door of the tent Prince Richard cringed behind a seat. "Go on!" cried the lion tamer. "You're waiting for you!" "Richard clung to the seat. "I don't dare!"

"Of course you dare!" said the lion tamer giving Richard a shove. "You're the Strongest Boy in the World!"

The shove sent Richard sprawling into the tent. The band stopped playing and people stared at the boy in astonishment. Richard picked himself up and went slowly up to Mr. Maxim.

"What shall I do?" he quavered.

"Pick up one of those weights," whispered Mr. Maxim pointing to a pile of heavy bars. "See how heavy a one you can lift." Richard leaned over and picked up a 100 pound bar. Instead of putting it down he laid it over his shoulder and picked up a 200 pound bar. He added this to the one on his shoulder and reached for the 300 pound bar.

The lion tamer urged Richard into the ring.

While Mr. Maxim and the crowd looked on in stunned silence Richard added weight after weight to his shoulders.

Finally he had all the weights on his back and he turned to Mr. Maxim and asked, "What shall I lift now?"

Mr. Maxim looked frantically around. There was nothing left for Richard to lift. Mr. Maxim had a desperate idea. "Lift me!" he gasped.

Richard reached out and picked up Mr. Maxim and put him on his shoulder.

The crowd stood and cheered. "Hooray! Hooray for the Strongest Boy in the World!"

Then a strange thing happened. A rooster escaped from a clown act and came squawking into the ring. He flew at Richard and pecked at his legs. Richard looked down in horror. He had never seen a rooster in his life. To him it was a baby dragon.

"Help!" he screamed. He began to run round and round the ring carrying the ton of weights on his shoulders and Mr. Maxim on his head. The rooster followed squawking and pecking at his heels while the crowd roared with laughter.

Suddenly Richard dumped Mr. Maxim and the weights from his back and clambered under the seats and out of the tent. He never would have stopped running if Mr. Maxim had not raced after him and caught him on the edge of the circus grounds.

Richard threw himself down. He put his head in his arms and sobbed.

"Boy," said Mr. Maxim, "what have you to cry about? You're the best clown this circus has ever had. Why there's never been anything so funny as a Strong Boy pretending to be afraid of a chicken!"

"I wasn't pretending," sobbed Richard. "I was afraid. And I don't want to be a clown. I only want to get to the North Pole to see Santa Claus."

The boy is daft, thought Mr. Maxim, but we must keep him with the show.

He said, "The circus spends only one night in each town and each day we'll be one day closer to the North Pole. Stay with us and we'll get you where you want to go."

Richard was ashamed to think of himself as a cowardly clown but to be one was the only way he knew to get to Santa Land. So, shivering unhappily, he went back into the tent for the second show. (Tomorrow: King Ignatz)

TRAPPED BY BUS

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Two young robbers have reason to be dissatisfied with the city bus service. After robbing a liquor store, two 16-year-old boys dashed three blocks and boarded a bus. It was stalled by a traffic jam. Officer Robert Molr spotting the youths from the victim's description arrested them.

IKE ASKS FULL REPORT; HE IS "DISAPPOINTED"

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—The American government sifted the ashes of its fallen earth satellite rocket today, seeking a way to recoup its heavy loss in the scientific cold war.

President Eisenhower ordered the Defense Department to give him a full account of what happened and why.

He was described by Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty as being, in a word, "disappointed."

So is Dr. Hagen. So was the man in charge of Project Vanguard, 19-year-old Dr. John P. Hagen of the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington. Today, the 11th anniversary of the Navy's near-destruction by Japanese sneak bombers at Pearl Harbor, he studied movies and photographs of the ill-fated satellite launching yesterday at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The report Hagen makes will go to Eisenhower. Then doubtless it will be revealed in some form to the American people, their aroused representatives in Congress and a world whose initial reaction to the launching failure ranged from jeers to sympathy.

Effect On NATO Plans

The missile misfortune was another in a series of scientific setbacks dealt the United States by the Soviets as 1957 drew to a close. And it cast deeper gloom over the already dissonant, wracked, planning for a Dec. 1 meeting at Paris designed to foster NATO unity.

Russia jolted the West in August by announcing it had successfully tested in intercontinental ballistic missile. Sputnik I was fired into its globe-girdling orbit Oct. 4. Sputnik II, carrying a dog, began orbiting Nov. 3. America, trying to catch up, failed yesterday in the glare of world-wide publicity.

Some diplomats in Washington felt the U.S. satellite failure made it imperative that Eisenhower attend the Paris meeting of NATO chiefs of government. But it was still up to the President's doctors to say whether he has recovered enough from his mild stroke of Nov. 25 to make the trip.

In any case, these diplomats questioned whether the NATO meeting had any real hope of success. They obviously were not impressed with the caliber of American imagination and drive in planning for it. And they wondered how the Eisenhower administration could achieve greater unity among the 16 NATO nations when it could not win bipartisan support at home.

Lack "Sense Of Urgency" Democratic party leaders have said the Eisenhower administration has failed to demonstrate a "sense of urgency" in coping with the Soviet challenge in the military-scientific field.

Complicating plans for the NATO meeting have been differences between France on the one hand and Britain and the United States on the other about arms aid to Tunisia.

Against this backdrop, the Vanguard fizzle made its diplomatic and psychological impact on the world.

Nikita's Comment Soviet Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev questioned at a cocktail party in Finland's Moscow Embassy, sidestepped an invitation to crow. He said he was sure an American satellite "will be launched sooner or later."

Moscow radio likewise played it straight.

NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak agreed with Khrushchev's estimate. Spaak frowned on Europeans laughing at America's failure, saying Europe "must be very far in decline" not even to think about launching a satellite of its own.

At the United Nations, some diplomats said they felt America would try again and succeed.

Final Link Of N. Y. Thruway Opens Soon

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Come Dec. 14, drivers will be able to traverse the State Thruway 495 miles from New York City to the Pennsylvania state line.

The Thruway Authority yesterday announced that date for the opening of the final 29 miles of the Erie section—from Silver Creek to Buffalo.

This is two days earlier than announced previously. A spokesman said work had gone along a little faster than expected.

The rest of the 70-mile Erie spur, a section of 41 miles between Silver Creek and Pennsylvania, was opened Aug. 21.

NATALIE TO WED

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Natalie Wood, 19, has announced plans to marry actor Robert Wagner, 28, in the near future. The couple has been seen together a great deal in recent weeks. Wagner gave her an engagement ring consisting of a large pearl surrounded by diamonds.

Voice of America radio network played it straight. The Voice reported the facts, stressing that the attempted firing had been only a test, and that more tests would be held.

The Voice's new director, veteran career diplomat George Allen, was reported more than a little annoyed at all the publicity in connection with the launching attempt. He was understood to have objected to it in advance, warning that reaction to failure would be bad.

But such cautions reportedly were overruled and it was understood the National Security Council decided to take the calculated risk.

GARBAGE STRIKE HITS NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP)—Hotels, hospitals and restaurants in the metropolitan area were hit last night by a strike of 1,600 garbage collectors.

The walkout against 550 private carting firms halts all refuse removal at about 130,000 establishments in the city's five boroughs and parts of Westchester and Nassau counties.

Affected by the strike are all but 200 of Teamsters Local 813's 1,800 members. The exceptions are trashmen who work in parts of Nassau and Suffolk counties under separate contracts that don't expire until the end of the year. Private homes are not affected.

Anticipating the walkout, New York City has prepared emergency stand-by procedures for removing garbage deemed a health or safety hazard by the health and fire departments.

The strike was announced by the local, following efforts to negotiate settlement of a dispute over terms of a new work contract.

SOMEBODY NOTICED

McGREGOR, Tex. (AP)—Hopes were voiced that people would notice the 18 gaily lighted Christmas trees the Chamber of Commerce put on downtown parking meters. Somebody did. The first night the trees were up, 100 of the lights bulbs disappeared.

Cut the crusts from slices of bread and then spread the slices with butter. Cut into narrow strips and brown in a slow oven. Serve with soups and salads.

CUSTOM KILLING

$1,900 ITEM IS CRUCIAL ISSUE IN BECK TRIAL

SEATTLE (AP)—A $1,900 item in the books of an investment company became a crucial issue today as the state attempted to prove Teamster Union President Dave Beck stole that amount from the union.

The state focused attention on the matter yesterday in the grand jury trial of the union leader when a work sheet from the books of the B&B Investment Co., owned by Beck, was brought into court.

It came up during testimony by Carl Houston, a tax accountant who prepared Beck's tax returns for 1956, the year the state alleges Beck kept the proceeds from sale of a union-owned Cadillac.

Much Wrangling

The work sheet, Houston said, showed cash receipts of the firm. One item showed receipt of $1,900 for sale of land by Beck and Callahan, another Beck firm.

The sheet also shows the $1,900 circled with a pencil mark trailing down to another line where it appears as "sale of car."

Considerable of yesterday's trial was taken up with wrangling by prosecution and defense counsel in the absence of the jury. The jury was out when the work sheet was discussed but the proceedings were recorded. Deputy Prosecutor Laurence Regal told the court the state will show that the $1,900 is the same money paid by Martin Duffy, a teamster for the car.

Flood Attacks Administration

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—A Democratic congressman from Pennsylvania says the advance publicity on the Vanguard firing was praiseworthy, while a Republican House member says the administration exercised poor judgment in revealing it.

Rep. Daniel Flood (D-Pa.) said yesterday he thought the administration acted properly to "advise the American public of what's going on one way or the other."

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) said he thought the government might better have followed the Russian policy of secrecy on the satellite launching.

Flood, a member of a House subcommittee which heard testimony on America's missile progress, said:

"Instead of wringing our hands and weeping because Friday's test was not as successful as we would have liked it to be, perhaps we can muster the courage to face with our scientists the abrasive struggle of progress."

Railroad Reduces Serious Accidents

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—The Reading Co. reduced serious accidents among employees by 45 per cent through the last 11 months of 1957, an official of the railroad stated last night.

Speaking at a family safety rally of the railroad's Chester district, Byron C. Cassel, assistant to Reading President Joseph Fisher, said the Philadelphia division of the Reading System, which includes Chester, had only three reportable injuries during November, the lowest average in more than two years.

NATIVES TAKE OVER PROPERTY IN INDONESIA

By JAMES WILDE

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesian employees took over the three largest Dutch banks in downtown Jakarta today despite a government ban on unauthorized seizures of Dutch enterprises.

A union leader said the Dutch Public Library and Dutch Diplomatic Mission libraries in Jakarta were also taken over this morning.

Other reports came in from across this sprawling island republic of new seizures of property belonging to Dutchmen who once ruled Indonesia and stayed on to run its economy.

Dutch Ordered Out
The Indonesian government has ordered most of the 46,000 Dutch residents to get out immediately, leaving behind most of their property. The order was issued yesterday as part of a campaign to wrest West New Guinea from the Netherlands.

A source close to the government said diplomatic relations with the Netherlands would be broken off very soon.

The chief public prosecutor of Jakarta, Jusuf Suwondo, warned departing Dutch citizens not to break the law by "selling or transferring their properties to others. Stern measures will be taken against violations of foreign exchange regulations," he said.

KLM Airline Expelled
The government had already told employees of KLM, the Royal Dutch Airline, to leave behind all airline property. The KLM workers were the first to be ordered out.

Despite repeated warnings by security forces and Premier Djunda against unauthorized takeovers, a number of Dutch businesses have been seized by their workers since Tuesday. The government has put seized enterprises under its control.

Many unconfirmed reports came in of workers seizing estates in East Sumatra and in East and Central Java. Dutch citizens own a large part of the nation's rubber plantations and help run oil road industry, Cassel said the long-range outlook is encouraging.

He said that an anticipated growth in population of 60 million persons by 1975 will be accompanied by increased demands for transportation, as much as 25 per cent more, he estimated, in the next decade.

Approve Access Ramp For Reeser's Summit

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Highway Department has decided to build access ramps to U.S. 111 for residents of the Reeser's Summit area in York County.

Without the new ramps, the department noted yesterday residents of the Summit would have had to use a steep and narrow mountain roadway, "too steep for fire and other emergency equipment to use properly."

They will be located where a township road crosses the highway, south of a bridge now under construction to eliminate the township road grade crossing.

Several new homes were built in the area after original plans were drawn for the section of the expressway through that area.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—City employees at Richmond Mosque, auditorium felt like the man who built a boat in his basement and found it too big to get out. The new $50,000 gas-fired boiler for the heating system wouldn't go around a turn and had to be dismantled before installation.

Shoppers Popeyed At Strange Caravan

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Christmas shoppers in downtown Charlottesville were popeyed—and curious — yesterday when a strange procession whizzed down the street.

First came a police car, siren screaming. Right behind it was a smoking garbage truck. Third in line was a fire engine—more sirens.

The explanation wasn't complicated. The police car was leading the garbage truck out to the city dump so it could get rid of its smoldering cargo, set afire by live ashes. The fire engine went along to put out the fire after the cargo was dumped.
